NATIONAL MUSEUM OF RACING

Most of our subscribers have read in The Chronicle and have seen pictures of the National Museum of Racing. It is certainly fitting that this institution should be situated at Saratoga, the oldest race track in the country, whose meetings date back to the War Between the States and which has somehow succeeded in presenting modern racing in a nineteenth century setting and atmosphere. In the few years since it was founded, under the Presidency of Walter Jeffords, the Museum has constructed a handsome building planned with a view to even further expansion; has acquired the basis of a notable collection of paintings, sculpture, silks and other memorabilia; and has instituted a series of loan exhibitions, that currently on display being devoted to steeplechasing. Horsemen making their annual pilgrimage to Saratoga have come to feel that a visit to the Museum, to renew acquaintance with old favorites and to see what has been acquired since last season, is just as essential a part of their trip as going to the races and attending the Fasig-Tipton Company's yearling sales.

The history of racing in this country is something in which we can all take pride. One of the first things which Charles II did upon his restoration to the British throne in 1660 was to establish horse racing as the national sport, thus paving the way for the foundation of the Thoroughbred breed. When Col. Richard Nicholls (formerly groom of the bedchamber to Charles' younger brother the Duke of York, later King James II) became governor of New York he immediately (1665) organized course racing at Hempstead not far from the present site of Belmont Park. The earliest American racing trophy is a silver porringer "wunn att hampsted plaines" in 1668. The South Carolina Jockey Club was organized in 1734 and the Williamsburg Jockey Club was in existence even earlier, both of them antedating the English Jockey Club by many years. It was in Virginia that the leading speed strains of the modern Thoroughbred were established through Janus and his descendants. Conversely during the 19th century distance racing over 4 miles was carried on at the major courses for some 40 years after it had ceased to be fashionable in England, establishing distance strains which largely accounted for successful invasions of the British turf by Pierre Lorrillard, Richard Ten Broeck and others. At the present time American racing offers earning opportunities unparalleled in history which are already having a profound effect on the development of the Thoroughbred breed throughout the world.

The history of racing carries a significance which extends far beyond the confines of the track and of the stud farms. Its popularity in the English speaking countries of the world is of great social as well as economic importance — since World War II, for example, it has left baseball far behind as our principal spectator sport. How fortunate we are that it is being gathered and preserved by the National Museum of Racing for students of pedigrees, of racing form, and of social customs, as well as for the far greater number who just like horses.

Arabian Division

Dear Sir:

We read with interest the account of the Fairfield County Hunt Show in your July 11th issue. However, I believe the last paragraph as written by "Starberry" is a bit misleading. The Arabian Division, for its first year included in this show, did draw a good, but I wouldn't say local, entry.

The champion was and is owned by Mr. LeVan of Gettysburg, Pa.; the reserve by Miss Helene Asmis of Sykesville, Md.; the third place by Mr. Weeks of Glen Falls, New York; the fourth by Mrs. Atwell of Greene, N. Y. and then the last two places went to owners of Connecticut.

Very truly yours,
Jane Decker Asmis
(Mrs. C. H.)

Sykesville, Md.

Camp Stabling

Dear Sir:

Would you, when possible, say a few words in your editorial about the lack of proper care and inadequate stable help which is so prevalent at too many camps.

Cannot some group be organized to check on conditions, and make possible the hiring of experienced instructors and stable men or women.

I have written previously about the suffering of horses at camps, but these conditions will remain, until there is a decided effort to prevent and eliminate the causes, which, in too many cases is the hiring of those with very little or no knowledge of the proper management of a stable, and even less of the rudiments of horsemanship.

One article this week - "Yearling Breaking" could have been my story. It is my pet theory and I promised myself if I

Swoon's Son Wins Equipoise Mile At Arlington Park

Raleigh Burroughs

Arlington Park

The two horses in training that are closest to Nashua in money earned got together in the Equipoise Mile at Arlington Park on Saturday, August 9. That was enough to make the race an exciting one.

The Kerr Stable's Round Table went into the race with $1,161,014; E. Gay Drake's Swoon's Son had $850,929. With a victory, Round Table would have been less than $40,000 out of first place, and there are races every week that give that much to the winner.

Round Table was handed a 131-pound package; Swoon's Son got in under 129.

The betting public preferred Round Table and wagered about as much on him as on the other nine horses in the race combined. He closed at 9 to 10.

The Rand entry of Clem and *St. Amour II was made second choice and Calumet's Bardstown was third in the mutuels line, with Swoon's Son, fourth.

Last season, Swoon's Son had won the tough eight-furlong race under 132 pounds, biggest load ever toted to success in the event, but his accomplishments had been dimmed by the more recent glories of Round Table.

The race gave almost everybody except the favorite players a chance to cheer.

Bardstown was away quickly and had a head lead over Indian Creek, with Better Bee third, Clem fourth and Swoon's Son fifth.

By the time half a mile had been covered, Indian Creek had gotten his head in front of Bardstown, and Swoon's Son had passed Better Bee to get into third place.

Coming into the stretch, Bardstown took over the lead, and hit the eighth pole a head before Indian Creek. Swoon's Son, coming through on the inside, was another head back. Clem was fourth.

Gradually, Dave Erb, on Swoon's Son, drove his horse through and crossed under the wire half a length before the Calumet gelding. Indian Creek was another half back and the same distance before Clem.

The time, 1:34 4/5, was only two-fifths of a second slower than Equipoise's 26-year-old track record.

Round Table raced in eighth place most of the way and closed to fifth in the last eighth mile, but still was 2 1/2 lengths away from the smallest share of the purse.

Swoon's Son (The Doge-Swoon, by Sweep Like) earned $87,675, which makes his total $938,604. He passed Stymie and now stands fourth on the earnings parade. The faithful who backed him collected $8 for every singleton risked.

He has won 5 of his 7 1958 starts. The five-year-old horse was bred by Mr. Drake and is trained by A. J. "Lex" Wilson.

With a large field for the one-mile Cleopatra Handicap at Arlington (Washington-at-Arlington, that is), the race was divided with eleven three-year-old fillies going in each race.

Tartan Stable's *Munch, the choice at 11 to 10, won the first division, going the mile in 1:34 4/5. She won easily, by 3 1/2 lengths, with My Carrie, Edna Allen and Carrie Louise filling out the money positions.

Milly K., owned by the Kerr Stable, scored in the second half of the race. She paid off at $14.60 and won by 2 1/4

Saratoga Yearlings First Night

The first yearling to go into the ring at the 38th Annual Saratoga Yearling Sales, at the famed spa, was Warner Ranch Co., Inc.'s dark bay colt, by Tom Fool-Admiral's Lark, by War Admiral. The youngster from Woodland Hills, Calif., was purchased by Frank Frankel, agent, of N. Y., for $20,000. This price tag turned out to be the high for the session.

Eugene Mori bought the imported brown colt by Pardal-Low Water, by Blue Water from the consignment of Mrs. D. N. Lee and the Middleburg, Va., consignor realized $12,700 for the second best price of the first night. In the third position on the high priced list was Fenton Farm (Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Edwards) of Warrenton, Va., whose roan colt by *Miche-Perfect Melody, by Sir Damion brought $10,400. The buyer was Myron N. Goodwin.

A total of 46 head went through the ring the first night, Monday, Aug. 11, for an average of $5,205. The first session last year saw 49 head go under the hammer for an average of $7,243.

The Chronicle will carry the summaries of the sales in a forthcoming issue.

lengths in 1:35 3/5. Wonder Star led most of the way, but yielded to the winner in the stretch. Well Away was third and Klompen, fourth. The winner's share in each race was $13,375.

Tartan Stable belongs to William L. McKnight.

*Munch was bred in Ireland (by J. J. Dolan) and was making her third start in this country. She was fourth, first time out and then won an allowance race on August 1. Before coming to America, she won five stakes.

Saratoga

A horse that is careless enough to win three races worth $40,000 or one worth $60,000 would be required to carry 126 pounds in the Travers Stakes. None in the 1958 running had, so the top-weight in the field was Victory Morn with 120. He escaped weight penalties, but didn't get any allowances because he had won the Dwyer.

All the other three-year-olds in the field of eight were asked to tote 112. Warhead had to carry 113, for that is as small as Arcaro can get.

Warhead and Piano Jim raced for the early lead in the 1 1/4-mile event. Grey Monarch moved up with them after five furlongs and reached the eighth pole a head before Piano Jim. There was a great test of stamina and horsemanship in the final 220 yards, with Piano Jim prevailing, under Robert Ussery, to win by three-quarters of a length. Grey Monarch had a margin of safety of 3 1/2 lengths over Warhead. Flamingo finished fourth.

Piano Jim (coupled with Candace was the Walter M. Jeffords entry) was favored at 6 to 5.

He earned $29,920, which gives him $58,205 for the season. His record stands 3 wins, 4 seconds and 1 third in 10 starts.

The son of *Bernborough-Blue Denim, by Blue Larkspur, won 2 of 6 and $5,725 as a two-year-old.

Mr. Jeffords bred the colt. Oscar White trains him.

*****

Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged galloped off with the seven-furlong American Legion Handicap at Saratoga, on August 8. The five-year-old son of Revoked-White Samite, by Gallant Fox, scored over Little Hermit by five lengths. Tick Tock finished third and Besomer, fourth.

Reneged was making his second start of 1958, and Trainer Homer Pardue had him in grand racing shape. At Jamaica, in July, he finished second in a six-furlong allowance race.

The $15,155, he took out of the American Legion gives Reneged $16,455 for the year. He earned $101,200 in '57 with 3 wins in 11 tries.

Robert Ussery was up for the Saratoga race.

J. A. Bell, Jr., bred Reneged.

A brand new stakes winner was made when C. T. Chenery's Rich Tradition, a 12-to-1 shot beat ten other two-year-old fillies in Saratoga's Schuylerville Stakes, August 4.

The daughter of Rosemont-Legendre, by *Challenger II, won by two lengths over Lady Be Good, with the favored Quill, third.

Tagama was fourth.

Rich Tradition, making her seventh start, had won only a maiden previous to the 5 1/2-furlong Schuylerville. She has a second and 2 thirds besides her 2 wins.

With the $11,638.75 from the Schuylerville, she has earnings of $18,452.75.

J. H. Casey Hayes trains Rich Tradition. Bill Boland was up for the Saratoga event.

Mr. Chenery bred the filly.

Monmouth Park

Monmouth staged three stakes in three days to close out its meeting. There was the Choice, on August 4, the Matriarch on the fifth and the Rumson on the sixth.

Boncrust Stable's Backbone won the Choice by 2 1/2 lengths over Wise Guy. Fleet Feet was third; Chance It Tony, fourth.

The victory was made easier by the even money favorite Plion, which stumbled and tossed his rider shortly after the start. Backbone was second choice at 21 to 10.

He earned $18,095 to give him a '58 total of $140,497. He has 8 wins and a second in 16 starts.

Stakes won, besides the Choice, are the Chesapeake, Kent, Suffolk Downs, Providence and the Hartford Handicap.

He won 1 race and $10,065 as a two-year-old last year.

The colt is by Worden, from *Shooting High, by Hyperion and was imported in utero.

L. Murray trains him.

Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Searching racked up her third win of 1958 in the Matriarch Handicap. Under Bill Hartack, the six-year-old mare was made favorite in the 1 1/16-mile event and won over Mlle. Diane by two lengths. Rare Treat finished third; Hoosier Honey, fourth.

Searching started slowly, but was soon rolling along willingly and reached the stretch 3 1/2 lengths to the good. Mlle. Diane cut this down some, but those who took 13 to 10 on the winner were not worried too much.

The Matriarch money - $14,407.50 - put Searching at $55,228.50 for 1958. She earned $53,631 last season.

By War Admiral - Big Hurry, by Black Toney, Searching was bred by Ogden Phipps. Hirsch Jacobs trains her.

*****

The Rumson Handicap went to the high-weight and choice, Montpelier Stable's Nahodah. The five-year-old gelding won by 2 1/4 lengths, with War Trouble second, True Verdict third and Tungsteno fourth. Culmone rode the winner.

The prize was $14,537.50, and that made Nahodah's 1958 earnings $37,247.50. He has 3 wins, 2 seconds and 1 third in 8 starts.

By *Nasrullah, from the Annapolis mare, Accra, Nahodah was bred by Mrs. Marion duPont Scott and that lady is the proprietress of Montpelier.

Frank A. Bonsal trains for the barn.

Atlantic City

The Seashore Stakes, appropriately, kicked the lid off Atlantic City's meeting, on August 7. The winner of the six-furlong dash for two-year-olds was Winlochan Stable's Inside Out, an 8-to-1 shot.

The favored Easy Spur was half a length back in second place, Blueville was third and Octopus, fourth.

Inside Out was making his sixth start and hanging up his second victory. The stable collected $11,411.25 for the effort, and now has received $18,746 from Inside Out's work.

The young colt is by Bolero, out of Narki, by Snark. C. A. Asbury and Son bred him.

J. M. Lee trains; Walter Blum was up for the Seashore Stakes.

The Philadelphia Turf Handicap, at Atlantic City on August 9, went to Green Dunes Farm's Combustion II. F. E. Powers' Hindu Festival, coupled in the wagering with the winner, was second. Hellenicus was third and Tellurian, fourth.

The first two to cross the line comprised the favored entry. Both horses are trained by Tommy Barry. Bill Hartack rode the winner.

Combustion II won the 1 1/16-mile turf-course test by 1 1/4 lengths.

The race was worth $18,907.50 to Green Dunes. Combustion II had $8,075 (for 1958) going into the race, so his total now stands at $26,982 and change. He won $32,551 last year.

The five-year-old horse was bred in France by Lord Dunraven.

Short Takes of Late Stakes

How Now took the San Diego Handicap at Del Mar, on August 2.

Djebah took the Graduation Stakes, at Del Mar, August 6.

A Family Of Jumpers

Frank Talmadge Phelps

It is common to think of certain sires and even certain sire lines as prime sources of jumping blood. Stallions like Annapolis, Battleship, *Easton, *Hunters Moon IV, Ladkin and Lovely Night come readily to mind because so many of their best offspring have performed over obstacles.

A brood mare who becomes known as a leading source of such blood is much more rare. True, some mares have produced two or three performers of quality over the jumps. J. F. Flanagan's grand old matron Best by Test even foaled four steeplechase stakes winners: ElkrIDGE, Kennebunk, Chesapeake and Cherwell. But their outstanding feats were spread over 14 racing seasons.

For one mare to be responsible for three steeplechase stakes winners in the same season would seem almost impossible, and even more so in 1957 when there was a total of only 22 such winners through the field. Yet that was the astonishing accomplishment of Dr. John S. Andrews' now deceased Index.

This brilliant 'chasing matron was the dam of Mrs. C. S. May's Billing Bear, who in 1957 gained his second triumph in the International Gold Cup at Ligonier.

And Index was also the grandam of the Tom Roby Steeplechase Stakes winner Glencannon and the Saratoga National Maiden Hurdle winner Greek Brother, both out of her daughter, Allison Stern's promising producer Tourist Index, herself a jumping mare of considerable class.

The latter is a full sister to Index's best known foal, Lowry Watkins' veteran lepper Tourist List.

Bred by William duPont, Jr., in 1927, Index early displayed her fondness for that branch of racing under the jurisdiction of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association. The daughter of Horron-Vocabulary, by Fair Play, won at hunt meetings in the early 1930's.

She was not a particularly prolific producer, with only nine foals in 20 seasons in the breeding barn. One of them died at two before he had a chance to race. All the others started; but the only winners were her three fine leppers Tourist List, Tourist Index and Billing Bear.

Index's first three offsprings, all racing failures, were the Messenger gelding Dictionary, the Hydromel colt John S. A. and the latter's full sister Andrewsia Rose. The latter did become a successful producer, however. Index was barren for four of her first eight seasons in the broodmare ranks, and was not bred another year.

It was in 1941, after that skipped season, that she foaled the *Tourist II gelding Tourist List. He did not start until his four-year-old season, but thereafter was a steady contender in the upper ranks of 'chasing competition for Mr. Lowry Watkins. Up to the age of 13, Tourist List won the Shillelah, Saratoga and Harbor Hill Steeplechase Handicaps, two runnings of both the Noel Laing and the Temple Gwathmey, five other races and $98,851. After two inactive seasons he came back to race at the hunt meetings at the age of 17.

Index had another barren year before, in 1943, she foaled Tourist List's full sister Tourist Index. Racing for Mr. Stern from three to seven, this daughter of *Tourist II won the International Gold two runnings of the Monmouth County Gold Cup at Red Bank, three other races and $63,107 at four through six.

Her first foal was the *Easton gelding Glencannon, who carried top weight of 151 pounds to a front-running 3 1/2-length victory in the 1957 Tom Roby. That was the six-year-old's seventh score since he got to the races at the age of three. He has earned $30,015.

Some 9 1/2 weeks after the Tom Roby, Glencannon's half brother Greek Brother fulfilled his favorite's role in the Saratoga National Maiden by prevailing by a neck under 153 pounds. This was the fourth tally for the *Orestes III gelding in his first active season. Second in the New York Turf Writers Cup and third in the Rouge Dragon Hurdle Handicap, the four-year-old has collected $18,175.

Tourist Index had no registered foal in the season between her two stakes winners. After another blank year, she produced the Boss filly Irene Adler, who did not start in 1957 as a juvenile.

The mare now has a yearling colt by Armageddon, and was bred to *Sea Charger in 1957.

Index had no produce to reach the races for five seasons after Tourist

Index was foaled. The matriarch's only offspring during that span was the Blue-run colt Popular Run, who died at two without having started. She slipped once, was barren another time, and was not bred twice during that period.

At last, in 1949, she had the Boling-broke gelding Billing Bear, who runs for Mrs. May. He took the 1954 International Gold Cup; and repeated in the same race in 1957 as an eight-year-old, in addition to running third in the Manly Steeplechase Handicap. Since he got to the races at the age of three, he has accounted for 11 contests and $48,105.

Index's only foals in consecutive seasons during her entire productive life were Billing Bear and his full brother Book, who won three races at three and four, and $1,615 from three through five. He was unsuccessful in his only appearance over jumps, a hurdle race at Belmont Park for Montpelier. After another blank year, Index produced her last registered foal, the Heliodorus gelding Roget, who failed to place in 11 starts at three and four, although he did earn $190 in the latter season. He raced in one hurdle event at three for Montpelier, and appeared in several brush contests at four on behalf of Gordon F. Perry.

Although Index produced relatively few foals for her long career in the broodmare ranks, and only a third of her offspring won, her good produce were very, very good indeed in their chosen speciality of obstacle racing. Through her daughter Tourist Index, this amazing matriarch may well become a foundation mare of the steeplechasing breed.

Sailor's Guide

The first horse officially entered in the seventh $100,000 invitational Washington, D. C. International racing classic at Laurel Race Course on November 11 is Sailor's Guide, Australian champion from far-off Melbourne.

Negotiations between Laurel president John Schapiro and A. C. Dibb and his son Keith, the horse's owners, were concluded when the Dibbs cabled Laurel officials that they were accepting the track's invitation to race the Victorian champion in the world famous mile and a half grass event.

The Dibbs, who conduct a wool business in Melbourne, also relayed the information that Sailor's Guide was placed on the Matson Line ship Sonoma, which sailed August 4 from Burnie, Tasmania, and is scheduled to reach San Francisco around August 23.

The horse is being accompanied by Jim Shannon, well-known Melbourne breeding expert, and a "strapper" (groom). Shannon will represent the Dibbs until Trainer

First Steeplechasing Exhibit Opened At Saratoga National Museum

An Historical 60-painting exhibit of steeplechasing is currently occupying the second floor of the National Museum of Racing at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., normally reserved exclusively for the Hall of Fame. Nine bronze statues of such famous 'chasers as Battleship, Oracle 3rd, Sable Muff 3rd, Alligator, Desert Thorn and Annapolis are included in the exhibit which will continue through August when the jumpers are racing at Saratoga.

Walter M. Jeffords, president of the museum association, which includes many members prominent in the turf world, says that the exhibition was designed to give the sport of steeplechasing, already staging a strong comeback, a further "shot in the arm." Mr. Jeffords is a leading steeplechase owner, being a member of both the United Hunts Racing Association and the National Steeplechase and Hunts Association.

The exhibition includes many valuable paintings of famous 'chasers, most of which raced recently. One of these is of Neji, 1957 Steeplechase Horse of the Year, loaned by Mrs. Ogden Phipps, his owner. Neji is the only horse ever to win both the Grand National and the Temple Gwathmey steeplechases more than once. Richard Stone Reeves is the artist.

Another famous horse's picture in the exhibition is of Battleship, loaned by his owner, Mrs. Marion DuPont Scott, who won the Grand National at Belmont in 1934.

Nearly a third of the paintings, which are nearly all privately owned, are by the noted turf artist, Frank B. Voss. The collection by Voss includes a painting of Oedipus, who won the Beverwyck Steeplechase Handicap on the Saratoga course only a stone's throw from the museum in 1951.

Custodian of the museum is Sid Veitch, a former rider who won the Saratoga Steeplechase Handicap in 1924 on Dunks Green, champion steeplechase money winner that year. His father, Silas Veitch, a former jumping jockey, was the trainer of the horse.

Silas Veitch is shown up on horses in four paintings recently donated to the museum by Mrs. Lathrop Brown. The canvases are of horses owned by her father, known as "Mr. Chamblet," a leading steeplechase owner at the turn of the century.

In addition to Neji, there are several other former winners of the United Hunts Temple Gwathmey in the exhibition, two of them by the prominent equine artist, Jean Bowman. They are of Adaptable, 1948 winner, loaned by Mrs. Cortwright Wetherill, and The Mast, 1952 winner, loaned by Mrs. John R. H. Thouron.

Another by Jean Bowman shows Elkridge and War Battle. The former won the 1946 Grand National, while the latter won the Temple Gwathmey, with Elkridge second.

Frank Voss is the artist for two other famous winners of the Temple Gwathmey. They are Burma Road, 1944 winner, loaned by Mrs. Thouron, and Iron Shot, 1942 victor, loaned by Mrs. Wetherill.

An historical 60-painting exhibit of steeplechasing is currently occupying the second floor of the National Museum of Racing at Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Exhibit, first of its kind at Saratoga, is designed to give up-and-over sport, already staging strong comeback, further shot in he arm.

George Daniel arrives in the States in early autumn.

Upon his arrival in California, Sailor's Guide will rest from his long boat trip for several weeks at North Ridge Farm near San Francisco before leaving for the East by air.

Sailor's Guide, a five-year-old black horse by the imported English stallion Lighthouse II out of Jehane, is labeled by the press as the greatest stakes winner now racing in Australia. He has won the Sydney and Williamstown cups, two Queen Elizabeth Stakes, a Victoria Derby and two St. Legers.

Llangollen Farm's Restless Wind Takes Arlington Futurity

Raleigh Burroughs

The "futurity" idea was originated by people who wanted to make a man prove he knew how to breed a good racehorse. In nominating a Thoroughbred before it is born, a breeder says in effect, "This is my prescription." Many nominators name the produce of several mares, and so have several prescriptions going for them; but it's still tough to find the one that does the trick. Even when a man names a dozen, it is highly probable that not one will be there for the big payoff. There's a good possibility that most of them never will be there for any payoff.

Worst of all, there is no guarantee that the combination of genes that worked last season will be effective this year. There is no formula that always succeeds, but horse breeders keep on trying.

Those that are successful declare that there is no fun in racing to match the thrill of breeding and owning a futurity winner.

There have been a few seasons when the best horses were not nominated to the best futurities, or other early-closing stakes.

This has been remedied by the "supplemental" entry. This is for horses whose owners did not think to nominate them, did not think them worth nominating, acquired them too late to be named, or think $7,500 is a reasonable sum to pay to get in without nominating.

Allowing supplemental entries to a futurity gets away from the objective of the inventors of that type of race, but it gives worthy performers a crack at the big dough.

It is likely that some of the more ancient members of the Coaching Club are scandalized by the very idea of allowing horses to horn into futurities as added starters. If a man has a good horse, they would argue, he should have suspected he was going to three years ago and wagered accordingly.

Proponents of "supplementals" believe it is important to make every race a championship, and that good horses should have a shot at the fat purses no matter what their owners thought of them before they were born.

Arlington Park

Washington and Arlington Parks are under the same management.

It brings very good racing to the Chicago area, but has caused some confusion among people who try to remember, each morn when they arise, where the horses are running today.

Most of the Arlington meeting was staged at Washington Park. To even it up, Washington dates are being run off at Arlington.

So, the Arlington Futurity was held during the Washington Park meeting at Arlington Park.

What a time Abbott and Costello could have had with that!

With "supplementaries" allowed, Llangollen Farm's Restless Wind got into the Arlington Futurity and came out of it with first prize.

The extra $7,500 Mrs. M. E. Lunn paid brought back $100,475, put the colt's earnings at $148,183 and made him the leading juvenile earner of the season.

Thirteen young horses went postward on August 2 for the valuable six-furlong dash at Arlington. The public liked Dunce best and made him the 2-to-1 favorite.

Restless Wind was second choice.

Ridden by Bill Shoemaker, the son of *Windy City II-Lump Sugar, by Bull Lea, never was far back. In third place, behind Namon and Winsome Winner coming around the final turn, he nailed those ahead, moved out to a two-length lead and then held off Dunce to score by three-quarters of a length.

Master Palynch was third, Winsome Winner fourth.

Demobilize, the $100,000 gelding, finished tenth.

After the race, Jockey Shoemaker observed that Restless Wind is "one of the best two-year-olds around."

That was a compliment of the highest order for the ordinarily "silent" Shoe.

Restless Wind is trained by Horatio Luro.

The colt was bred by Mrs. Marie A. Moore.

Mrs. Lunn bought him at Saratoga last summer for $10,000.

As is his habit, Trainer Harry Trotsek sent out the winner of the Meadowland Handicap at Washington-Arlington. Mr. Trotsek has saddled the first horse home in this turf race four times in the last five seasons.

In this year's renewal (the 17th) Trotsek did the trick with Solution. The race, on July 30, was at 5 1/2 furlongs. Last year (two divisions) it was at six furlongs and before that at 1 1/8 miles, 1 3/16 and 1 1/4.

Solution (*Cortil-Wondring, by Pensive) caught the favored Alhambra in the stretch to win by a half a length. Bonnie A. was third and Flight History fourth.

The winner's share, $13,600, put Solution at $37,570 for the year. The mutuel payoff was $13.20.

The four-year-old gelding was bred by Miss M. V. Fisher and was sold to Mr. and Mrs. Reuben (Hasty House Farm) for $30,000 (reported).

Jockey J. Sellers rode Solution in the Meadowland.

Jamaica

Montpelier Stable's Nahodah contributed to the going-away-from-Jamaica ceremony on July 29 by taking the six-furlong Wilson Handicap. Those who figured the five-year-old gelding was "due" collected $32.20 for each $2 risked.

Nahodah chased Kingmaker and Hastego for the first two furlongs then took over and has a two-length margin of safety over Decimal at the end.

Mr. Field's voice is well-known to TV racing audiences. (Delaware Park Photo)

SMITHWICK ON NEJI

In an interview with columnist Teddy Cox, "Paddy" Smithwick, regular rider of the great steeplechase champion Neji, says: "He has a perfect disposition and when you're out there on him in a race you have a much different feeling than when you're riding any other horse. Neji knows what it means to pace himself, or allow himself to be paced. This is mighty important you know when you're carrying all of that weight over long distances and the big jumps."

"No, I wouldn't say he is any better over the big jumps, even though he has proven himself great by his victories over them. He handles the hurdles just as well. He's the kind of horse that can adapt himself to anything. Guess you noticed in his race yesterday that he didn't take his jumps too highly. He brushed through them like a confirmed hurdle horse. As the jumps got higher, he moved higher, but only high enough to get over them without losing valuable time in the air."

PONYING BY CAR

Necessity may be the mother of invention, and it is also the author of a winner at Charles Town, W. Va., race track.

When 24-year-old Irene Mandrus, making her first venture as a race horse trainer, decided in the spring to bring her "stable" of two horses to Charles Town, she began getting them in condition.

Since there were no jockeys or exercise boys in the vicinity of her Springfield, Mass., home, Irene gave each horse work outs at a nearby park track by running her automobile from which extended a gyp line to the horse's bridle allowing him to gallop along beside the car.

One of the horses is Concert Hall which won his first start at Charles Town and has since run a third and a fourth, thus getting a check for all of his starts here. The other is Eugene Boy which has been third, fourth and fifth in his three efforts at the Shenandoah Valley course.

Concert Hall paid a $39.80 winning mutual which is pretty good for a horse that chased cars for his early training.

TULLOCH TO U. S.

At the request of the horse's owner E. A. Haley, T. J. Smith, trainer of the Australian champion Tulloch, is coming to this country to survey the U. S. tracks and the races in which Tulloch might be entered if shipped to this country next winter which his connections are now considering.

CHRISTOPHER COLT

Bought for $10,000 at the Newmarket July Sales by George Forbes' Agency on behalf of Mr. T. Christopher to race in Florida is the good English three year old Casey, by Black Tarquin, who has been placed this year in the Column Produce Stakes and the Derby Trial.

He is the second runner of the good racemare Ready, one of the seven winners bred by the renowned Judy. By Signal Light, Ready won four races worth $8,500 and has bred the winner Whoa Emma. P.T.C.

HURDLE FAVORITES

Amazing success was shown by the favorites in the hurdle races at Monmouth Park this season. After the first 12 such races, the public choices had won 8 for a winning mark of 66.7 %. For the horses running on the flat, the percentage was a respectable 32.6 % with 107 favorites clicking in 328 races.

The hurdlers added further lustre to their record for of the four favorites which failed to win, two were second and two were third for a perfect "in the money" mark.

BLIND'S NECK YOKE

A neck yoke, devised by Monmouth Park starter Eddie Blind, is being praised by horsemen as an effective instrument in assisting horses who habitually rear in the gate. With the permission of the trainers, the neck yoke has been in use for four weeks. It is made of leather, with foam rubber lining the upper part which is placed against the horse's withers, and the lower portion, lined with sheep's wool, rests against the chest. Two 15-foot ropes attached to the yoke, are placed underneath the side pontoons in the gate and prevent any attempt by a horse to rear or "act up." In harness, a horse can move forward, backward or sidewise. Among the horses who have benefited from this control are Dark Fury, who won the first time she started after this schooling Count Swedak, Visit to Moon, X-pert and Sibling. Among the enthusiastic trainers is Tommy Heard Jr., who says, "It's a good thing; the neck yoke is very helpful in quieting horses who act up in the barrier."

(Teddy Cox in "The Morning Telegraph").

BLACK TARQUIN'S OFFSPRING

Recent winner of the Premio Merrellina at Naples, Italy was Tartini, an Irish-bred son of the American-bred stallion Black Tarquin.

THE RACETRACK LEES

This year there are two Tommy Lees in racing. One is on the west coast and the other is at Monmouth Park. One has two legs and rides horses. The other has four legs and is a horse. The horse one has only one "M" in his first name, but he has an asterisk in front of it to make up for the missing "M".

The two-legged Tommy Lee is a jockey and he "rides like a Chinaman" simply because he is sort of a Chinaman. His father was a U. S. citizen living in Merced, California. The father returned to China where he got himself a wife. Tommy was born in Canton (China, not Ohio) on August 30, 1936. When the lad was three, the family returned to the states ending up in Ocean City, New Jersey via Vancouver, B. C.

Tommy went through the usual routine as a stable hand, exercise boy, and apprentice, getting his first win on February 12, 1957 at Charles Town aboard an animal named Jungle Bunny. (Lee's first winner was on Lincoln's Birthday. Too bad young Grant was not riding in that same race.)

After nearly dying from a reaction to a tetanus shot, getting a punctured lung from a bad fall, then breaking a leg as a horse bolted through the rail at Pimlico, and finally being laid up with Asiatic flu, Tommy started over again at the half milers where he did right well. He has now graduated to the big eastern tracks starting with Monmouth.

The four-legged Lee also comes from "the other side" only from a different direction, namely England. His name is *Tomy Lee and he is a bay colt foaled in 1956. He is by Tudor Minstrel (by Owen Tudor by Hyperion) out of Auld Alliance by Brantone out of Iona (by Hyperion).

This *Tomy Lee has won four for four in California, the last two being the Haggin and the Charles S. Howard Stakes at Hollywood Park this summer. In both of these races, the imported colt easily beat the well-regarded Jungle Dancer (Native Dancer-Monsoon, by *Mahmoud). On the west coast, *Tomy Lee is considered as good a two-year-old as has come along in some time. His breeding would seem to indicate he will be able to stretch out as he gets older.

If the script were properly written Tommy Lee ought to ride *Tomy Lee at Oriental Park. In the next race, the American jockey of Chinese parentage ought to have a mount on the two-time Vanity winner, Annie-Lu-San (*Khaled-Wheel Home by Questionnaire) and then a third ride in a subsequent race on the three-year-old filly, Sally Lee. R. J. Clark

WINNERS IN FRANCE

Horses recently winning in France for American owners have been Alvin Untermyer's Val D'Oisans and Mrs. Laudy Lawrence's Matuta.

Commonwealth and Besomer got smaller slices of the purse.

The $14,440 Nahodah earned put his season's total at $22,710. He has 2 wins, 2 seconds and 1 third in 7 tries.

Mrs. Marion duPont Scott, proprietress of Montpelier, bred Nahodah. Joe Culmone was up for the Wilson. Frank A. Bonsal is the Montpelier trainer.

Nahodah is by *Nasrullah, from Accra, by Annapolis.

Saratoga

Greentree's Cohoes was the public choice for the Whitney Stakes at Saratoga, on August 2, and came through in fine style.

Cohoes (*Mahmoud-Belle of Troy, by Blue Larkspur) had Admiral Vee as his main rival all the way, though Kingmaker was prominent for better than half the race.

Admiral Vee got his head in front coming around the last turn and had a slight lead at the eighth pole. The Jockey John Ruane asked Cohoes for his best and the Greentree four-year-old drew out to win by one length.

Admiral Vee was three in front of Inside Tract at the wire. Dotted Line finished fourth.

The $29,205 he earned gave Cohoes $78,670 for the year. He has won 4 races (including the Brooklyn Handicap), and been second one in 6 starts.

He won 3 races and earned $45,850 in 1957.

Greentree Stud, Inc., - the property of Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson and John Hay Whitney - bred Cohoes.

John Gaver trains him.

*****

A fine thing happened in New York on July 31 - Saratoga opened. Highlighting the first-day ceremonies was the Flash Stakes, an old race for young horses. The 1958 running was the 84th.

First Minister, owned and trained by Mr. E. L. Cotton, and ridden by E. Arcaro, registered a four-length win.

Atoll, the 1 3/4-to-1 choice, ended up sixth, after leading for a little more than two furlongs.

First Minister, never far back, went to the front approaching the stretch and drew out to his comfortable margin. Pilot was second, a nose before Steverino, which beat Le Grand Rouge by a neck.

The time for the 5 1/2 furlongs was 1:05 3/5.

It was the second win (in six starts) for First Minister and the first in a stakes. He finished second to Restless Wind in the colt division of the National Stallion Stakes.

The $11,248.75 he earned in the Flash makes the two-year-old colt's money total $20,452.75.

First Minister is by Primate, from Wise Counsellor's daughter, Dou Douia. E. Zantker bred him.

Monmouth Park

Calumet Farm's A Glitter got back into the win column in the Monmouth Oaks, August 2.

The filly, (after disappointing in her first four races of '58) had won five in a row, including the Betsy Ross Stakes and the Coaching Club American Oaks, and then failed rather dismally in the Delaware Oaks.

A rest of 21 days had her sharp and willing. She took the lead in Monmouth's biggest race for three-year-old fillies and never was headed.

At the end, she was 1 1/4 lengths ahead of Spar Maid and going easily. Craftiness was third, 1 1/4 lengths back of the place horse and a neck before Polamby.

A Glitter (*Khaled-A Gleam, by *Blenheim II) added $36,190 to her season's earnings and now has $118,546.

She was the 4-to-5 choice in the Oaks. I Valenzuela rode A Glitter. Calumet bred her, so Jimmy Jones is her trainer.

*****

Two-year-old fillies performed in the stellar attraction, the Sorority, at Monmouth Park on July 30, and Mommy Dear performed most "stellarly." Favored at 11-to-10, she jumped out on top shortly after the start and was 3 1/2 lengths ahead of her nearest rival after half a mile. She extended her margin a bit approaching the stretch and coasted home to win the six-furlong dash by 3 1/2.

Royal Native, Flying Josie and Mira Ceti followed as listed.

Mommy Dear won a maiden race, first time out, on July 11. The Sorority was her second start, so her record is unsullied.

The addition of the $14,895 from the Sorority to her previous purse gives Mommy Dear $17,495.

The young filly is by Polynesia-Miss Mommy, by *Bull Dog. She was bred by Mrs. E. S. Moore and races for that lady's Circle M. Farm. C. W. Parrish trains Mommy Dear. Sam Boulmetis rides her.

Short Takes Of Late Stakes

Sir Ruler was the winner of the Ocean-side Handicap at Del Mar on July 26.

Del Mar's Junior Miss Stakes, July 30, went to Beautiful Lily.

HIGH CLASS CLAIMER

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lunger's 4-year-old mare Endine (*Rico Monte-Sea Snack), who recently earned $106,875.50 plus a $10,000 breeders and nominators award as the winner's share of the Delaware Handicap, raced in a $10,000 claiming race in May at Pimlico. Fortunately for the Lungers no one dropped a check in the claiming box.

FINISH FALL

Atesa, from the John Machise barn at Waterford Park, must take ranking as one of the nation's most consistent horses. The 5-year-old mare, winner of two races this year, has finished in the money in her last twenty starts, an enviable record.

In her most recent race she ran second under apprentice Robert Luntz, and then fell just at the finish. A comparable incident occurred at Detroit a few years ago when one horse fell while approaching the last step to the wire. The photo finish camera was consulted, and the developed film revealed the horse's nose on the wire with the boy out of the saddle but clutching the reins. The stewards decided the horse had carried his weight all the way and he was awarded the victory.

PIPE OF PEACE. Recently exported to Australia through George S. Forbes of the Veterinary Bloodstock Agency (England), Pipe of Peace (Supreme Court-Red Briar, by Owen Tudor), was the best 2-year-old of 1956.

SALES, BETS, AND BUSINESS

When, a while back, the administration urged the public to "buy" their way out of the recession, horsemen obviously took the admonition to heart. At the Breeders'

Sales Company sale of yearlings at Kenne-land in Lexington, Kentucky last week they expressed confidence in the future to the tune of $3,432,600.

While prices set no records - and none were expected according to breeders - the buyers spent $662,200 more this year than they had at the 1957 sales. The average paid for 357 yearlings sold was $9,615.

Humphrey S. Finney, president of Fasig-Tipton Company which began selling yearlings at Saratoga in 1917, returned from the Keeneland Sales beaming.

"In spite of recession and the more recent disturbing developments in the Middle East the yearling market is solid and this is a good sign for business generally," Finney said.

It was noted that TRA statistics on race track operation for the first six months of 1958 had shown no drastic change from the 1957 figures. Attendance was up 0.8% and the pari-mutuel handle was off by the same fractional amount.

The yearling sales and the Totalisator board serve as a good barometer of business conditions generally and the Louisville investment house of Tyrus R. Davis Company recently issued an "Index of Business Trends as Determined by the Wagering on the Derby Race (Kentucky Derby), 1920 - 1958."

The Tyrus R. Davis Company "theory in economic evaluation" observed that "The correlations of Derby betting trends with other comparative historical data are of such striking nature as to cause more than casual interest in their validity as an economic indicator." With the Derby betting of 1958 up 16% over 1957 the report points to an autumn upturn "taking place in late October or early November."

Mr. Marland's Hounds

Our Versatile Potlickers

Don Henderson

We'd had a wonderful morning, leaving kennels at 3 a.m., in the light of a full moon. Dew made for scenting as it lay on a warm ground, well covered with short-grazed buffalo grass. Hounds never behaved better. Finally we called them off as their coyote took to the Arkansas river, headed for the Osage Hills.

Now, at 8 a.m., we were only a mile from kennels. A man in uniform was riding our way. Who could have talked Joe Mackey out of Grove Cullum, our top working hunter with many wins at Forts Riley, Leavenworth, Sill, and Kansas City too?

Up jumped a jack, right in front of the oncomer. Must have been a grandpappy, if size went for anything. Some hounds stood a moment, trembling, others took no heed. Helen Woodard cautioned - "Have a care," to young Fleet. He looked at her, then at me, as if to say - you hear her? I'd never run a jack, not me! He looked again, as if with the saving clause - not much anyway!

Rider John MacDonald, secretary of the Cavalry School at Fort Riley it was, welcome to ride anything in our growing stable of real good one - Joe knew that.

"Now I can say I've seen everything hounds will do, Lord, what control!" He shook hands with the few of our field. Ending up riding with Helen, so showing he knew about other things besides horse and hounds.

Three Packs

Two busy years were spent gathering potlickers, very busy years, making as few bad buys as possible. Adjacent counties and the Indian Reservations were our sources of supply. Three packs furnished us with hounds for special missions. Here was the way of it.

Each hound went through a tough school before he or she was assigned to a pack. The most obedient and sagacious, with the keenest intelligence went to the coyote pack. Hunting coyotes in North Oklahoma called for a keen hound, with a nose and a willingness to work tirelessly for the reward of a bit of a sniff of a swift and cunning coyote. Then he had to be able to work the line painstakingly, gathering speed as his assurance increased. Temperamental, flighty hounds couldn't take the strain. We carried 6 to 8 couples only, for control against jacks and early morning skunks was essential. Coyotes had to be hunted before dawn.

The speedy, irresponsible youngsters went to the jack pack, the harriers. They'd run like crazy. Biggest trouble was to keep them true to the line, without cutting corners on a circling jack. Many's the jack they bowled over after 30 - 40 minutes of bursts of speed. We ran them with meets at about 10 a.m. A popular time for everyone to turn out. Fields were well filled.

The hardheaded hellions went to the drag. They'd roll stray cats, cur dogs, hens, roosters and were hell on goats. On a stinking hide, they really furnished a gallop, for often an hour without a check. For the rider who hunted to ride, they were the ticket. Hank Evinger, who's name appears in polo news nowadays, was an artist at laying drag. We were often puzzled, could it be a coyote?

Each pack lived in its own kennel run. This method called for far more work, but furnishing sport for everyone was our mission - we did it. Visiting hunting men not only said they enjoyed it, but stayed on for more, when their business with the Company was concluded.

Visitors

An invitation was sent to the late Windsor White of Chagrin Valley to visit us. We'd give him sport with coyote, hare or drag. Came his brief reply that if he wanted to hunt with a riotous pack, he could do that at home every once in a while. Years after, I hunted with that pack, when Pat Reilly was their huntsman, never once did he show the sport we were able to furnish at Ponca.

George Peek, an artilleryman, was MFH at Fort Sill. We must give the visitors a special day. We'd turn out one of the Iowa foxes which lived in the orchard, at the kennels. Smooley, our indefatigable kennelman assured us they'd run. All details being in order and our 3 or 4 guests well mounted, hounds left nothing wanting in their early work, time and again showing their contempt for jacks. Old Hightail, the oldest and most reliable of our strike hounds opened with a bit of a babble, as if puzzled. As we topped the ridge overlooking the valley, the pack harked to the old gent, and went away in full cry. Now they were screaming, and the field was really excited. Helen, my whipper-in and indispensable factotum called to me, pointing to the other side of the valley.

Up on the opposite ridge, a mile or more away, was Smooley's old Ford coupe. He'd surely get out of there before we reached that spot. Helen and I took a narrow cowpath up the rocky cliff, the field close behind. As we breasted the hill top, off to the right, about 1000 yards, was Smooley, scampering behind him as he ran, came the fox. Hounds were in full view and gone mad. The kill was under the coupe. Smooley and I had goofed. It was many a day before that was lived down, wonderful material for a drinking hour. In the excitement, no one saw Helen's tears, or that Smooley pulled out of there blubbering like a kid who's pet dog had been run over by some damn speeding car.

The Wild West Show

The Miller Brothers needed some hounds to stage a hunting act on their show. We picked out 6 of the most incorrigible. The show rigged a cage for them under the elephant flat car. The elephant man went to feed his hounds. There were only 4, the other couple were inside their onetime associates. Yes, the drag pack was made up of hellions.

"Our Bar-L country is overrun with coyotes, wish you'd bring the pack and stay a while. Scare 'em, kill 'em, just so they leave our pigs alone." George Miller had found a willing listener. The Millers were wonderful hosts. They set up a camp for our turnout of twenty. Oil Company directors, girls from the offices, who were our best decoys to get the lazier riders out, made of it a holiday. E. W. Marland never stood in the way of any healthy horse activity.

Mr. Marland's Hounds

We killed a few coyotes. Helen and I rode up on a couple of the younger hounds devouring a suckling pig, but to this day, no one ever heard about that.

Evenings we danced to Indian music, the Indians danced with us too. Colorful it was, by the light of huge fires, there on the banks of the Salt Fork River. One Indian girl was obliging enough to have her baby, which called for piute bean smoking by the older Indians. That was both solemn and impressive. We ate buffalo meat to saturation. Everyone hated to leave camp the next morning. The pot collected for the baby presents was quite considerable. Our token for 3 glorious days.

A Wild Hunt

The harriers made for wild riding. In early days the field got out of hand on one occasion. A jack scuttled away with his white tail on one side. Hounds went off screaming. The field went after them awhoopin' and ahollerin'. If a hound got in the way, he was lucky not to be run over. Hounds killed their jack, riders went wild. This irate huntsman rode up. A stern lecture on etiquette and usages, and that sort of thing. "If this ever occurs again, hounds will go back to kennels."

The very next jack, and it did happen again, and hounds did go back to kennels. There was much growling. Johnny Hale, Marland's secretary told the sequel. How a delegation told Marland that their sport was being interfered with in a high-handed manner. Marland let them know, in no uncertain terms that as long as this newly introduced horse activity was making men into healthy members of his company, instead of a hard drinking group with pasty faces, he'd leave things as they were, and back his representative to the limit.

The Beagles

Tennesean Pres Lowrance and his friend Col. Tom James sent down some 13 inch beagles, gay little chaps. Wally Hall, an Englishman, took them in his charge. We were having a practice polo game, if I'm not mistaken, polo Internationalist Watson Webb was with us that day, he had business with the company. Across the fields came the note of a horn, Wally and his beagles hove in sight, a fox ahead of them. The red disappeared, the beagles circled the disused well excitedly.

We tied a rope round Wally's middle and let him down, where the red was swimming, terrified. He bit his rescuer, which served him right. The little feller was carried for a long ride, out of danger. Wally and his beagles were sent back to kennels, with a warning to, ware the reds.

Somehow, though the beagles were intended to amuse the old folks and very young tykes, these categories would rather follow the other packs.

It was a common sight to see Marland sitting topside his big Tennessee Walking horse, watching a group of kids on small mules and little ponies jumping panels as they came to them. Not quite jumping, but anyway, getting to the other side.

When the bottom fell out of oil and everything, hounds went to Sill, Riley and Leavenworth. Not bad places to end the days of hounds or mortals, with Uncle Sam, in the days when there were horses to ride.

Irish Storm Over Brush Fences At Punchestown

Philip de Burgh-O'Brien

Hunting Major Michael Wentworth Beaumont, Master of the "Killing" Kildares, has won the Punchestown "Fence Stakes", with a fighting speech. The bearded Major went home last night, June 10, after a meeting of Hunt members with a personal victory under his belt. He had beaten seven members who wanted to replace the traditional stone walls, wide ditches and banks of the 108-year-old racecourse with brush fences - as in the other major chasing courses in the British Isles. The major had delivered an ultimatum circular to the 200 members, threatening to resign if brush fences went up.

Ninety-nine of the 200 who turned up to vote, as Naas, Co. Kildare, listened to a ten minute impassioned speech by the fighting major, Baron de Roebeck and Lieut-Col. Mitchell who lead the revolt - because they felt that top-class steeplechasers are deserting Punchestown because of the "dangerous" banks and stone walls (this is a fact), spoke against the major. An Irish racehorse owner, Major Victor McCalmont, speaking for the Stewards of the Irish National Hunt Committee, ruling body for chasing, warned that they would withdraw support from Punchestown unless the brush fence scheme was adopted. Major McCalmont appealed to the members present not to split into factions. But Punchestown, he claimed, was going down in the class of runner it attracted, "Bank racing is on the way out," he declared.

Matters were looking black when the hunt committee secretary proposed a compromise that carried by way of an amendment. It was that no action be taken about fences until after next years meeting. The voting went: 42 for, 47 against. Said one of the members: "A great victory for the Major. He took the line that Punchestown - the last race meeting with hunter-style banks and stone walls - should be saved for the small farmer-breeder with hunters." The die-hard viewpoint is, that Punchestown is unique; it should never be changed. Why, people have been coming from America to see it for over a hundred years! Said Major Beaumont: "Change Punchestown and I quit." It has been a glorious victory! Whether a wise one remains to be seen.

MAJOR KINDERSLEY

Major Charles Kindersley, Jr. - M.F.H. of the Eglinton Hunt, R. R. 1, Todmorden, Ontario, Canada, recently made, as he put it, "the acquaintance of the wrong horse" and has been hospitalized with a broken leg. He hopes to be back in the saddle in time to finish out the autumn season.

Holsteiner Stallion

HERO, 3-year-old Holsteiner stallion, recently imported to this country by Colonel Hugh J. Nevins, of Red Rock Ranch, Inc., Monument, Colorado. Colonel Nevins writes: "He is one of the nine Holsteiner males left entire following the annual selection and sale at Elmshorn, Schleswig-Holstein, Germany, on 2 November, 1957. The original crop of this group (1955 foals) numbered some 296 colts which were then culled in 1955-56-57 down to the final nine selected by German officials as the best qualified to enter stud duties Germany-wide.

"Hero was my first choice of the nine. Fortunately, he was second choice for the officials since they pre-empt all other bidders. So I obtained the number two stallion of 1957 and was happier with him than I would have been with the official first choice.

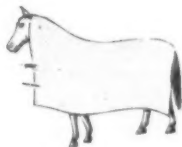

HERO

"The Holsteiner, as you probably well know, is much sought after by European and South American international jumping teams. The breed is powerful and handles big jumping courses with almost casual ease. They are handy and nimble considering their great bulk and, most to be desired, they have wonderfully amiable, nerveless and relaxed dispositions.

"Bred with Trakhener, Hannoverian, Anglo Arab, Standardbred or large Thoroughbred mares, the Holsteiner produces big, elegant, heavy hunters in the 1350 pound bracket. I intend to breed to the latter type mare.

"I plan to show, or at least exhibit, Hero in Jumping Classes at some of the larger horse shows about the country in the Fall and Winter of 1958-59 before he goes to stud."

Waterloo Hunt

The Waterloo Hunt Show is situated in the country about 15 miles from Jackson, Mich. The small town of Grass Lake is the nearest town about six miles distance. The setting is beautiful in hilly country.

This year we were happy to welcome two Canadian stables to the exhibitors list: Lorne Jean Knight, with her good hunters, and the Sifton Stables that show hunters and jumpers. They did win some good classes too. The Sifton Stables gray jumper Tamerlane was reserve jumper champion to Max Bonham's 5-yr-old, green jumper Navarra.

Lauray Farm's Gold Court, was champion conformation hunter with a three way tie for reserve between, Lorne Knight's Berrywood, Mrs. Robert Haass's Velvet Rose and Longacres Stables' Sweet William. The latter was reserve after they hacked.

This show was unusual in the fact that there were ties in nearly every division. The working hunter champion was Victoria Buchen's new horse HiFi. This was the first show for Torie and HiFi, which she purchased recently and she certainly did well with him. There was a three way tie for reserve here also between Mrs. Max Bonham's Slide Rule, Mrs. Robert Haass's Borealis, and Lorne Jean Knight's Briar Hill. After the hack, Slide Rule, was Reserve. The green champion was Mrs. Robert Haass's lovely new Irish import Bantry Bay. This colt has developed into a lovely mover. Reserve was another Irish import belonging to Longacres Stable in Cincinnati, Sweet William.

The show was well filled with entries in all divisions and the weather was good to us all week-end, in spite of threatening storms. I think a good time was had by all.

Lakeville

Like most of the Connecticut shows, year by year the hackneys, saddle horses and other classes are declining at Lakeville, which is becoming more and more of a hunter-jumper show. Not that readers of The Chronicle will mind this, but it is to be hoped that with shows depending on this section of the entry to pay the bills, courses and other arrangements will be improved to encourage their support.

All the championships didn't come easily at Lakeville this year. Harry deLeyer's consistent-going Snow Man jumped his way to a wide lead in the jumper championship (and a good look at the high score award, being his third "A" championship in the past two months), but deLeyer had to win a jump off to gain the reserve on his Bonne Nuit mare, Night Arrest, over Russell Stewart and My Indian Princess.

The green working championship also had to have a tie broken, and Sky's Heather outthanked the Biddles' Even Stephen, as she had in the hack class, to gain the tri-color. Certainly the most noticeable horse in her division, the palomino Alton mare, second in the green division last year, goes as handsomely as she looks.

Champtown, ridden throughout the show, as usual by Carol del Guercio and John Vass, repeated his Ox Ridge win by placing consistently throughout to gain a comfortable margin over Miriam Hawkins and Tourist's Encore.

With the birth and growth of several pony clubs in the area, Conn. is beginning to have quite a good showing in the pony hunter division. However, Mimi Cummin came up from Philadelphia with her top-placing Coupon and new three-year-old, Peanut Brittle, and took home top honors in both divisions, to show the local entry how it's done. ### Colorado Springs

Once in a blue moon a show goes off somewhat the way its organizers hoped it would. Such was the case for the Colorado Springs Junior League's 21st annual whose only complaint was there were so many entries it was hard to run the classes off between dawn and dark. It was the largest hunter-jumper show this region has ever seen and had it not been blessed by nearly perfect weather would be running still. Entries poured in from all over the southwest and were further augmented by riders training here for the National Three-Day Event.

Children's classes were held the first day with Paula Wiseman emerging as the junior champion after wins in the intermediate group dressage, equitation, hunter and jumper classes. This young rider from Roswell, New Mexico, was also awarded the Arthur Sharp Award based on horsemanship and sportsmanship - the latter voted on by her fellow contestants. Jane Hart won the Nutrition Camp Trophy given to the local rider winning the most points in the children's classes. Among the advanced riders, Karen Phipps was high with Sherry McMurtry running a close second.

The second day of the show led off with the B-1 Dressage Test and U.S.E.T. Medal and Open Classes. They consumed a large piece of the show's time but it was interesting to note that the horses able to do the dressage appeared frequently in the ribbons in the hunter and jumper classes which followed. Wilson Dennehy won both the U.S.E.T. classes, and his mount, Trouble Shooter, winner of the Medal Class, was given the award for the outstanding horse in the show after several beautiful rounds in the jumper classes, the reserve going to Sandy Phipps' Carousel Clown, which was jumper champion.

The last day of the show saw the hunters performing over the fences on the outside course's grass green field. The working hunter classes averaged fifty entries each and were divided between lightweights, and middle - and - heavyweights, but despite the quantity of entries in both working and conformation classes, the quality was somewhat disappointing, with no really outstanding hunters. Towards the end of the afternoon spills became more and more frequent with tiring horses and the hunt teams saw only two teams finish out of five entered. However, the show's luck still held - there was not a serious accident during the three days though not many fences were left intact.

Metamora Hunt

No story for this show, other than what appears in the summaries below. No comment on the weather, it was just right. Schedule was on time; no noticeable mads at the judges; the vet, blacksmith, ambulance driver, deputy sheriff, had nothing to do. There were enough ribbons to go around. No horses got past the starting line without paying entry fees, and only the usual amount of pedestrian gate crashers.

Farmington Hunt

The 26th Annual Farmington Hunt Club Horse Show will undoubtedly go down on record as being the most successful show ever held on the Hunt Club show grounds in Charlottesville, Virginia. Down to the smallest detail, the committee did everything in their power to please the exhibitors. At the entry desk each exhibitor had his horses' names written on the numbers to avoid mix ups. Cocktails, luncheons and suppers were held between the various sessions, at the club. The grounds have been improved one hundred per cent. There was also a wide variety of courses in the ring. The attendance was the largest seen at a show in this area for many a day. Mr. Francis Manley, Buffalo, N. Y., did a superb job as ringmaster, being thoroughly gracious, yet most efficient. Due largely to his efforts this was one of the few shows which ran in beautiful time, everyone having time to enjoy their meals without worry of indigestion.

GREEN COURT CHAMPIONS

A Stable of Fun

.... It is interesting to note that many of the show stables of today stem from a desire or dream come true idea. The ever present, everlasting fondness of horses eventually comes to a crisis when the interested person buys his or her first show horse. Success extends its hand and the one horse stable grows to a prominent string of the country's finest show hunters.

Similar background is portrayed by the Green Court Stable of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Smith. Although the Smiths reside in the famous college town of Ithaca, New York, their stable is in Warrenton, Virginia, under the management of Mrs. Susan Burke. In the past few years, Green Court Stable entries have won championships in every major horse show in the East and Canada. Their very able conformation hunter, Shannondale, has been champion and reserve champion at the Pennsylvania National, Toronto, Westchester, Lancaster, Bath County, Fairfield, Ox Ridge and Upperville.

Shannondale, by Wait A Bit out of Old Mary, is seven years old and stands 17.2. This fall Shannondale along with his stablemates Came Across and Cold Climate, both green hunters, will travel to North Shore, Piping Rock, Quentin, Pennsylvania National and Toronto.

PAST - PRESENT - FUTURE

Successful Produce

.... Green Court Stable during its career as a show stable has produced and sold some of the great young conformation hunters in America. These include: Bit O'Honey, Cameda, Modern Design, Short Day, Evening Pink, Star Time, Monopolist, Spain's Armada and Spring Scene.

All of these horses were sold into other show stables. They have continued their brilliant record both for amateur and professional owners. It is not often that horses of this caliber have withstood such a challenge in the show ring.

Youngsters Today

.... One of the great joys of having a hunter show stable is the schooling and training of two-year-olds. An excellent example of type and breeding is the Green Court two-year-old by Wait A Bit out of Brown Dancer. This handsome brown colt has been extremely successful showing in this season's two-year-old division. He represents the great Thoroughbred sire, Wait A Bit who, before his death this past year, was much sought after as a conformation hunter sire. His get with few exceptions are large strong animals with plenty of quality and exceptional jumping ability.

Recently another well-known stable purchased from Green Court another good looking two-year-old, High Noon, which has also shown his way in the show ring.

Green Court Stable horses are winners and are good horses to own.

Combined Training Center Green Mountain Horse Association Ottershaw

As the last trailer left the Green Mountain Horse Association grounds in scenic South Woodstock, Vermont, last week, the local inhabitants paused to catch their breath. For three busy weeks some 30 "students" and their horses made this the "horsiest" spot in staid Vermont.

Unqualified success most aptly describes the Combined Training Center concluded July 27th with Three-Day Horse Trials (to be covered in a subsequent issue). The Green Mountain Horse Association again made their excellent facilities available to the sport of Combined Training and it is to date the only Center in this country where some one interested in Horse Trials, culminating in the Three-Day Event, can seek such specialized instruction. Last year's experimental Horsemanship Clinic, run along the same lines, was directed by Brig. Gen. J. T. Cole and drew 48 students. However a number were not up to the standard required nor were some of their horses either suitable or fit enough for the job. Consequently this year, applicants were asked for references to attest to their proficiency in the saddle before being accepted, since it was not a place "to learn to ride" but rather to specialize in Combined Training. As a result the standard was both higher and more uniform, infinitely easing the task of the instructors.

Less a few late arrivals, all students, mounted, were asked to "fall in" on the cool and overcast Sunday morning, the day before the work began. Mr. Roger Maher, the effervescent Secretary of the Association, officially greeted the students, taking the opportunity to acquaint all with the ground rules. The Director, Mr. H. S. Treviranus, of Virginia, who last year assisted General Cole in the instruction, brought with him many ideas on improving the Center. Like the other instructors he generously contributed his time to this worthwhile cause. Mr. Treviranus is of course, the Technical Advisor on Combined Training to the U. S. Equestrian Team, also on an honorary basis. As such he is interested in locating horses and riders of potentially international caliber. He addressed the assembled group pointing out that for training purposes they would be divided into three groups depending on the "combined" proficiency of horse and rider.

Accordingly three groups were established at the first of the daily staff meetings and became the special care of the Director, of Col. F. Grafi and of Capt. H. van' Schaik, respectively. Col. Grafi formerly of Hungary and like the other instructors former cavalry officers, now is a Canadian and very active in the Pony Club movement. He brought with him a wealth of experience and is particularly remembered for his vociferous remark: "Brace ze backbone!" His understanding manner was appreciated by all who were exposed to it. Capt. van Schaik is now a resident of Vermont and operates his own dairy farm, devoting what time he has available to his lifelong interest in the horse, and more particularly to Pony Club work.

The type of horse brought to the Center was, on the average, impressive. The majority were Thoroughbreds and most of the others Thoroughbred crosses. Not all were as fit as could be desired in view of the fact that they would be required to work three hours per day under saddle during the session. Every student was asked the amount of hard feed which his horse was getting and the answers, more often than not, were nothing short of astounding and lent more weight to the theory that more horses suffer from over-feeding than starvation! Twenty-five quarts a day, was heard at least twice and from there all the way down the line. To the instructors it meant that students must be made aware of the need to correlate feeding with the work required of the horse, since without it no conditioning is possible.

The daily schedule called for stables at 7 a.m. followed by an inspection. Classes ran from 9-11 a.m. and again from 3-4 p.m. Night stables at 5 p.m. by which time all horses should have been fed. Every student had the option to bring his own hired help to care for his horse although no one took advantage of this, preferring to do it themselves. On several nights lectures were given and films shown all dealing with the proper care and conditioning of the Combined Training, or "Trials" horse. Dr. Kenney, a local veterinarian talked to the group on three occasions. Dr. Stearns, a veterinary surgeon from Euclid, Ohio, sent his colour slides depicting injuries and diseases of the horse.

The morning work took place within a mile of the stables, alternately in the jumping area, complete with every type of obstacle and Cavaletti "saw horses", a full size dressage ring and a twenty-five acre field cut in two by a brook not to mention a few very useful ditches. The footing, grass, was good and thanks to the frequent rainfall, not at all hard. During the first week everyone was drenched regularly, so much so that the "banned" blue jeans had to be resorted to on one occasion to give the breeches a chance to dry.

The syllabus, aimed at Combined Training, was divided into the following phases taken in rotation on successive days: Dressage I - Suppling exercises with occasional test requirements performed in the "open" away from a ring with particular emphasis on transitions. The most common failing of riders was the lack of comprehension in respect to their use of the leg, and on the horse's part, his inability to go "on the bit". Jumping - By means of the Cavaletti system the aim was to teach the horse absolute obedience to the rider's leg, to perfect his judgement as well as to encourage the horse to use himself to his fullest advantage. This was an eye opener to the few experienced show horses. Towards the last week the emphasis was on combinations and finally courses. Dressage II - More individual instruction, this time in the arena and requiring more precision. The fundamental requirements were stressed repeatedly. The Walk, as always, presented the most difficulty. Trackwork - Specific distances were staked out enabling the rider to proceed at a given speed across country. Some galloping and jumping ditches and a Liverpool at speed rounded out this period. Roadwork - took place every afternoon for between one and two hours. This is the backbone of conditioning. It was done in a controlled manner against the stopwatch using nearby trails. It progressed in severity as time went on, and was so aptly described by the late Col. Wofford as "money in the bank", i.e. storing up the horse's energy for later use. It also dispelled boredom for the horse, for not one became stale through this arduous but varied work.

The Director never failed to point out that three weeks are not enough time to either train a horse or correct a rider's basic faults, but that it gave both a pattern to work on. The instructors frequently rode briefly most of the horses when it was necessary to arrive at a proper analysis. Technically, of course, the "student" was the team of horse plus rider and the final object of the training was their combined effectiveness, a term heard with great frequency.

While this work was in progress, the conditions and courses for the subsequent Horse Trials were being planned. In order to cope with the manual labor involved in constructing immovable obstacles and clear trails, the call went out for volunteers. The result was overwhelming, not a one wanted to be left out. This amply demonstrates the excellent spirit and sportsmanship prevailing at the Center! In order to give every horse a fair test, they were assigned to the Novice or the Open Division depending on the standard reached. Starting into the third week the group was re-organized accordingly. All except two horses were judged fit to start and the training in the final week was aimed specifically at the actual Trials' conditions.

It can now be said with certainty that the GMHA Combined Training Center will become an annual feature, although the conditions may not remain identical. As the sport of Combined Training gathers momentum in this country there should never be a shortage of people interested in perfecting their skill. For no matter how well the organizers and staff did their task, there would not be a school without students.

The CORINTHIAN Forward-Seat Jumping Saddle

The Greatest advance in saddle design since the advent of the Italian Forward Seat.

Pictured above is the Corinthian saddle and the REVOLUTIONARY new tree on which it is built. It is made ENTIRELY of laminated Birch plywood with none of the many joints or crossgrains that are the cause of breakage and spreading in ordinary Beechwood trees.

Each tree is built up on a mould for complete true-ness. Its great strength (at no extra weight) allows a new concept of "sweep of seat" design and narrowness of twist, affording the rider comfort and security heretofore unattainable.

Built entirely by hand by England's finest saddlers, it has a deep pigskin seat with a 3 3/4" dip, deeply recessed safety stirrup bars, "sure-grip" panels lined with French calfskin, and deeply moulded flaps to enfold concealed knee rolls. For hunt field, showing or hacking, the "Corinthian" will add greatly to your riding comfort, safety and performance.

We offer you a two-week trial period. You may use the Corinthian as though it were your own. If you are not delighted with it, return it and receive an immediate refund in full.

Please let us know your height and weight when ordering. Also tell us if your horse has high, low, or average withers.

1. Laminated tree has no joints or crossgrains at these vital points.
2. Head and cantle have over 15 layers of plywood.
3. Narrow "twist" or waist for greater comfort and grip.
4. Newly designed recessed safety stirrup bars.
5. Spring Steel reinforcements for flexibility and added strength.
6. Flanged gullet plate to eliminate spreading or breaking.

Hosts Sweep Pony Club National Rally

The Wayne-DuPage Hunt Pony Club, at Wayne, Illinois, was host to the fourth National Rally on July 17, 18 & 19, and was rewarded by winning the trophies for both 'B' and 'C' Teams. But the Gen. Mellon 'A' trophy, awarded for the first time, was carried off by Miss Taddy Matthews of Eglinton, Ontario, Canada.

The Rally went off very smoothly as a result of thorough preparation by the local committees, headed by Mrs. Corwith Hamill, and the weather, although a bit overcast for the snapshotters, was ideally temperate for the exhibitors. All the contestants' horses were housed in a big tent erected on the grounds of the Dunham Woods Riding Club, with an extra stall for each team serving as a tack room. Each team of riders slept in a neighboring home, but all contestants and officials ate breakfast and lunch together at the Dunham Woods Riding Club. Thursday evening Col. and Mrs. Horace French had a barbecue for the contestants and the Robert Quayles entertained the parents while the officials met at the Club. Friday night, all three groups met at the Hamill's for an outdoor buffet preceded by swimming for the children and refreshments for adults.

Col. Howard C. Fair, President of the USPC, served as Chief Judge and was ably assisted in the stadium and cross country events by Herman Friedlaender of California, and in the dressage by Messrs. T. A. Mohlman, F. P. Sachs, R. Ticken and Mrs. T. Wason. Mrs. Fair and Mrs. Friedlaender did a fine job in appraising stable management, USPC Secretary Alice Reidy of Boston and George Cole Scott of Richmond also brought their experience to the management of the Rally.

The National Rally is patterned after the Olympic three-day event with Dressage, Cross Country, and Stadium Jumping events on three consecutive days. In addition each team is scored on its stable management and each rider takes a written test on horse care and general knowledge of veterinary and hunting matters. Each rider is scored individually, but, except for the 'A's, stable management is a team score, and awards are made on a team basis, the best three performances by the four riders being counted in each category. This put the Baltimore-Harford 'B's, with only three riders, at a disadvantage, and they deserve credit for competing with one horse missing.

The 'A' category was won handily by Taddy Matthews, who was unexcelled in the

THE CHRONICLE

The level of good manners and sportsmanship exhibited by every contestant was astonishing and makes this reporter feel certain that the whole Pony Club movement is worth every bit of labor that goes into it. A typical example was a departing Atlanta contestant waving goodbye to the Wayne-DuPage 'C's who had come to see them off. "We enjoyed every bit of it", she yelled from the car window, "Except those three points!" C.H.

The Wayne-DuPage 'B' Team was ahead of the second place Middle Tennessee group in every phase except Stadium Jumping in which the third place Toronto and North York Team excelled.

The hottest competition was in the 'C' category, where Wayne-DuPage and Atlanta fought it out tooth and nail with a slim margin changing sides each day. They had identical scores on stable management and the written test and were less than 5 points apart on the other three phases; Wayne leading in Dressage and Stadium Jumping but not in the Cross Country where they might have had an advantage due to familiarity with the terrain.

Junior International Jumping Team Championship

The Toronto and North York Hunt Pony Club Team retained its title of champion and the International Junior Jumping Team Challenge Trophy by holding off the Toledo Jets, the challenging team from Toledo, Ohio.

The Junior International Championships were held in Aurora, Ontario, Canada, on July 12th. The Toledo Jets, who tried valiantly and nearly succeeded in taking the trophy back to the U. S. A., were Sally Swift, captain; Judy Klag, Patricia Cassady and Lynda Rudy, supported by ground men Butch Brooker, Billy Bracy and Ray Sheppard, Chuck Howard and son John were overseers of the expedition.

The victorious Toronto & North York team comprised Janet "Dinny" Burns, captain; Gail Heath, Lynne Kerr and John Cakebread, Jr.

On the first round of the Prix des Nations, the Americans came out best with a total of 12 faults to 16 for the Canadian team but on the second round the Americans had 7 faults for an overall total of 19. The Canadians had no faults on the second round to win with a total of 16.

Several other events open to Junior riders rounded out the day and a championship was awarded to the most successful girl - Sally Swift from Toledo and to the top scoring boy - Moffat Dunlap, Toronto, Canada.

Elderberryhill Farm, residence of Jim Elder, Aurora, provided the most lovely setting these eyes have yet seen for any show. Viewed from spectator hill, lush green sward spread out below in kidney shape curving around the swimming pool edged with a rock garden and shaded by graceful big willows. Bright international type obstacles, 15 in all, dotted the carpet of green.

Major Axel V. Boldt, U.S. Cavalry, ret., has been the judge each year and the club members appreciate his interest.

The contestants are divided into two age groups, the 9-12 group cleans a halter; the 15-17 age group cleans a bridle, taking it apart, cleaning and putting it together again. They are graded from 0-10 for (1) Use of time, (2) Buckles, (3) Leather. The same age division is used in the grooming. Only four horses are groomed at the same time so that the

Mexico's Anahuac Club Visits Brandywine

Bill Phillips

The famed Anahuac polo team of Mexico City arrived at Brandywine on July 2 for the first match in a two game series at the Pennsylvania club. For the twin bill feature event the poloists from south of the border mounted Guillermo (Memo) Gracida, 6-goal member of Mexico's top polo family, Erwin Anisz, also rated at 6 goals and team captain, and Guillermo Cisneros, Mexican Army Captain at 4 goals. Spectating were the Honorable Alberto Genis-Avila, Consul of Mexico from Philadelphia, with Mrs. Genis-Avila and Haime Rincon-Gallardo of the Mexican Jockey Club and the fourth member of the Anahuac team.

The arena match, which initiated two of the visitors to this type of polo, got off to a one-sided start with each of the Brandywine players scoring 2 goals for a 6-0 first period lead. In the remaining 3 chukkers, the acclimated Mexican's expert defensive action limited the Brandywiners to 5 markers while they registered the same total. Anisz and Everett King, Sr., were unhorsed in the final period but continued play in the match paced at a gallop from the initial throw-in.

Merchantville was paced by Harley Williams' 8 goals to an 11-8, win over Avondale in the preliminary contest.

Second Game

Anahuac polo team of Mexico City, playing its final game in this country on July 6, notched its initial win by edging Brandywine 11-10 in a climactic final period come-from-behind victory. The visitors' outstanding team play and accuracy enabled them to come within a goal of tying the count at 10-9, on markers by Erwin Anisz and Memo Gracida in the fifth chukker. Haime Rincon-Gallardo evened the totals after one minute of play in the final period with a 40 yard drive that caromed off a goal post and over the goal line. The impenetrable Mexican defense turned back numerous Brandywine scoring threats and Gracida tallied the deciding goal, 11-10, on a pass from Anisz in the final two minutes.

Ray Harrington captured scoring honors for the local team with 8 goals. Bill Ylvisaker 6-goal player from the Blind Brook Polo Club completed the Brandywine lineup to give them an 18 goal team against the Anahuac 20-goal quartet.

Mrs. Alberto Genis-Avila, wife of the Mexican Consul from Philadelphia, presented the winners trophy to Anisz, captain of the Anahuac team.

The Famed Anahuac Polo Team of Mexico City visited the Brandywine Polo Club (Pa.) for a series of matches - (L. to r.): Haime Rincon-Gallardo; Guillermo (Memo) Gracida; The Honorable Alberto Genis-Avila, Mexico's Consul in Philadelphia; Mrs. Genis-Avila; Captain of the Anahuac team, Erwin Anisz; and Guillermo Cisneros.

- Because of a relocation of business interests, I have decided to dispose of my horses and my farm. As a result of this regrettable circumstance, I am recommending a trainer and manager of my stable. This man and his wife are Hungarian. He is expert in the field of training jumpers and hunters, and particularly high school dressage. His wife is also an able horsewoman, and they both have an extraordinary way with other animals, as well as horses. Their work with training a boy (14) to show jumpers has been outstanding. They are both of very sober habits, of the highest character and integrity, and a genuine asset to any family who maintain riding facilities. This couple will be available after September 1. ### Minus Irons

Jockey William Downs, one of the leading riders at the Waterford Park summer meeting, had a harrowing experience in the recent Independence Day Handicap when he was sharply pinched back in the run to the first time, causing him to lose his stirrup irons and very nearly go down. With an effort he retained his saddle seat, but could offer little in the way of help to his mount, Black Eye, and finished far back in the ruck.

He was not as fortunate as another rider who appeared in the Middle West some time ago. At that time the two most important jumpers in action were Can Can and Cicero. In a handicap race at Hawthorne Park Jockey Slack, astride Can Can, broke both stirrup irons in going to the first jump. This would have discouraged most riders who would either have pulled up or slipped off the back, but Slack was made of sterner stuff. Steadying himself, and taking a firm grip on the mare under him, he went through the full two miles and a quarter, taking every jump in perfect fashion and finally coming on to beat Cicero a nose.

There is another yarn spun of Aberdeen, prominent Chicago runner of a few seasons ago who had been well backed by his connections to whip a fancy band at Arlington Park. Closing at odds of ten-to-one he bounced away from the gate as if jet-propelled, galloping in front with long, space-annihilating strides to the head of the stretch. At that point saddle, jockey and equipment spun underneath the horse and Ironsides passed him to take first money.

It was at Detroit that Jockey Harry Hart was closing fast in a driving finish when his horse stumbled and tossed him high in the air. It occurred right on the finish line and the stewards closely consulted the photo which showed the horse's nose clearly on the line with Hart, although out of the saddle, continuing to clutch the reins. The stewards decided the horse had properly carried his weight and placed him third in the mutuels pay-off.

No more disconcerting experience ever happened to a rider than when Jockey Birley reached the starting gate a year or so ago at the Fort Erie track in Canada. While at the post he momentarily wriggled out of the saddle and supported himself in the rigging while attempting to adjust a stirrup iron. The starter failed to notice him and sent the field on its way, and there Jockey Birley remained in the super-structure while his horse, riderless went on about his business.

"The Great New Horse Show in the East"

U. S. E. T. News

U. S. Team Success Bill Bryan

The U. S. Equestrian Team pulled out all the stops in scoring impressively at the Royal International Horse Show at London's White City, July 20-26.

Leading the U.S.E.T. parade of winners was Hugh Wiley who rode Master William to a stirring victory in the King George V Cup. A capacity crowd of 10,000 jammed the big stadium to see the U. S. turn the finals of the competition into an almost all U.S.E.T. affair.

At the end of the first round six horses had clean rounds to show for their efforts and four of these were ridden by U.S.E.T. members. This put Wiley with Nautical and Master William, Bill Steinkraus with First Boy and George Morris with Night Owl up against Italy's Piero D'Inzeo on His Excellency and England's Smith on Farmer's Boy in the jumpoff.

Of the six, only Wiley, with a superb ride on the capable grey, was able to turn in a clean round. D'Inzeo pulled down the final fence for four faults and second place. Tied for third were Wiley with his second mount, Nautical, and Morris on Night Owl with eight faults apiece. Fifth went to Steinkraus as First Boy, the 1956 winner of the event had 12 faults. Smith was sixth with 16.

Not content with having annexed the highly-coveted King George V Cup, the U.S.E.T. came back the next night to carry off top honors in the Prince of Wales International Team Competition. With Steinkraus riding Ksar d'Esprit, Wiley on Nautical, Morris on Night Owl, and Frank Chapot on Diamant, the U. S. riders came up with a total of four faults to place ahead of England with eight. Each team of four riders jumped the 14 fence course twice, with the best three scores in each round making the final total. Steinkraus and Morris each chipped in two faultless rounds. Chapot, clean on his first trip, had four faults on the second. Wiley went clean the first time, but Nautical fell at the second fence on the second round, forcing Wiley to retire. In third place, with 24 faults, were the Irish, while Portugal finished fourth with 31.

Earlier in the show Steinkraus turned in a flawless ride aboard Ksar d'Esprit to win the Manifesto Stakes in the fast time of 1:03.2. D'Inzeo, riding His Excellency, was second in 1:03.6. Morris, aboard Night Owl finished fifth with no faults and a time of 1:07.4.

In the Distaff Stakes, D'Inzeo rode The Rock to victory as he nosed out Wiley and Nautical. In this event, Steinkraus finished fourth with First Boy, while Morris was fifth on Sinjon.

The Metropolitan Stakes saw D'Inzeo again the winner as he piloted Uruguay around the course in :51.4 to edge Chapot on Sinbad who turned in a :52.5 round for second place.

The U.S.E.T. won both qualifying heats for the King George V Cup as Steinkraus took one on Ksar d'Esprit and Wiley the other with Nautical. Steinkraus also rode First Boy to eighth place in the heat won by Wiley. Wiley, in turn rode Master William to second place in the heat Steinkraus won.

In the Imperial Stakes, Steinkraus finished third on First Boy behind Portugal's Cavaleiro, with D'Inzeo second.

Morris scored a strong fourth place with Sinjon in the White City Stadium Cup which was won by England's George Hobbs, riding Royal Lord. Lt. William Ringrose of Ireland was second on Ballynonty, while Ann Townsend of England was third with Irish Lace.

THE CHRONICLE

KING GEORGE V CUP

Commenting on Hugh Wiley's success on Master William in winning the King George V Cup, the big individual event of Britain's International Horse Show at White City, the equestrian correspondent of the London Times said: "We shall be lucky if we see a round ridden with better judgment on the part of the rider or better performance on the part of the horse."

GERMAN VIEWPOINT ON U.S.E.T

(Editor's Note: A good friend of The Chronicle, Fred Young, president of the Young Radiator Company of Racine, Wisconsin, recently sent us the following letter written to him from Germany by the Baroness Von Richter-Rettershof.) Dear Mr. Young:

The U. S. Jumping Team has developed to an astonishing degree. Its form and style is strikingly good as is also its success in competition. I would place it immediately after the German team as far as world competition is concerned.

Your young and charming dressage rider, Jessica Newberry, has made a great impression as well, both through her excellent seat and hands and through her unflinching sportsmanship. I can only congratulate you for these successes.

Besides these mentioned the Russian team is advancing rapidly in jumping as well as in dressage riding.

We have had very good and exciting shows at Aachen, Hamburg and Wiesbaden.

With kindest regards,

Yours very sincerely,

Hertha Von Richter-Rettershof

RIP MILLER

It has been learned with regret that the U.S.E.T., acting upon veterinary advice, has had the team horse, Rip Miller, destroyed in Germany. The seven-year-old grey gelding, by Coq d'Esprit, out of the good mare, Queen Minetoka, was suffering from complications following a severe case of pneumonia which he incurred on the steamer en route to Europe in May. The horse had been donated to the team by A. J. Long of Cincinnati, Ohio. B. B.

Aachen Reflections

Egon de Kamarazy

This was a horse show full of surprises, but the great "revelation" was the improvement of the U. S. team. The Germans speak of the U. S. boys as showing the style of Brinkman at its best. Capt. Piero d'Inzeo in a chat with me expressed his admiration for the well balanced horses and the voluntary obedience they show.

U. S. Riding

Captain Oppes told me that "the Americans ride so uniformly well that only Piero d'Inzeo could be called a better rider - and Piero is a born rider: a Genius". Oppes, a member of the Italian team, was third in the European Championship last year in Rotterdam. One could say that only the American team has a uniform excellent, classical style. The Swedes also ride well with a beautiful seat, but neither do they ride forward enough, nor do they have the well balanced and beautiful horses the U. S. team has. They have purchased recently some good young German horses and Herr Weidemann, formerly from the German Cavalry School and after the war instructor at the Holstein Equestrian Centre at Elmshorn, has trained them for the last few months.

The Russians

The Russian team has also improved impressively in the last two years since the Olympic Games in 1956 at Stockholm. U. Raspopov sits in good balance, rides with nice hands, but does not use his legs sufficiently. The result is riding with the whip and an overexcited horse. The Russians also ride stallions in jumping classes, while their dressage horses have been changed since 1956. The general opinion is that the Russians will continue to improve. The captain of the team told me that they came to Aachen "only to learn and to school their horses." If they learn the right style they will be serious challengers in the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome. However, I observed a marked tendency toward acrobatics of the Allen Oliver or Joe Green type, and my conviction is that you need an exceptional horse plus a riding genius to get results with this style. If such riders show results, one should wonder how much better results they would show if riding with a more harmonious style.

AHSA RATINGSS

The American Horse Shows Association, which for a number of years has been rating its shows for annual high score award purposes on a basis of minimum number of classes and minimum amount of premiums offered by divisions, has issued a reminder to show committees that it cannot accept, under "premiums offered", any amount advertised to which is attached a provision that it only will be given if a certain number of entries are received.

A recent prize list reaching the AHSA office advertised four $400 stake classes. In three of them it was stipulated that unless 20 entries were received the class would become a sweepstake event with exhibitors merely dividing the entry fees. In the other, the show guaranteed $100 in the absence of 20 entries.

The Association rates its Regular Member Shows as A, B or C in twenty-two divisions or sections of competition. Certain classes, such as children's, local, breeding, etc., do not count in any of the ratings and in some divisions, team, pair, hack, pleasure and other classes do not count. The minimum class and premium requirements for an "A" rating in any division or competition, plainly listed in the current Rule Book, naturally is higher than requirements for a "B" rating; exhibitors winning ribbons in an "A" competition receive triple points towards the Association's annual awards while double points are given for winnings in divisions or sections having "B" ratings. Normal points are given in all other ("C") classifications.

The AHSA points out that an exhibitor who enters a stake class with a definite amount of cash offered, should not be penalized because an insufficient number of entries are received, and reminds show officials that only guaranteed premiums can be counted in rating shows.

Horse Show Summaries

Nashville Jr. Riding Club

With the Tennessee State Fairgrounds out-of-bounds for horses since this time last year, the 30-year-old Nashville Junior Riding Club was forced to hold its annual show in the adjoining county at Franklin. The Williamson County Center was the only place with bleachers and lights made available for this event, which was trimmed from a two-day and two-night program to one day and night.

The daytime hack and horsemanship classes were, as always, strong in numbers and quality. Only double winners were college girl, Joan Mooney, first in open and Thoroughbred hacks with Fujiyama, and Ann Magli, 12, tops in equitation and in pony hunters with Quen Sabe. M. L. W.

Quentin Junior

Ninety-five horses and ponies were entered in the Quentin Junior Riding Club Horse Show, largest so far of the six shows which make up the Central Pennsylvania Junior Horse Show Association circuit.

Ten-year-old Cathy Williams collected three blue ribbons with her dappled gray pony, Limelight. She also placed second on Pat Dixon's Call Royal in the open jumper class, marking the first time she had ever competed aboard a full-sized horse and the first time the 4-year-old horse had ever been shown. In this class, in which eight horses had no faults on the first round, Cathy battled it out with Barbara Bauser, riding Wildfire, for three jump-offs.

The hunter and jumper classes for horses, all very well filled, saw victories widely scattered, with no single horse winning more than one blue. The knock-down and out required a three-way jump-off before Virginia Sternbergh and Star of Sahara copped first place. In the one-jump finale, actually a high jump event, Ruby Zemo had three horses which remained in the running until there was only one other rider left. Ruby won the victory with This Is It, when the rails were raised to four feet, three inches. M. L. S.

Wisconsin State Fair

This was the first year the Wisconsin State Fair enjoyed an "A" rating in both the Hunter and Jumper divisions. Not only the quantity of entries but the quality of entries was far superior to what it had been in previous years. The hunter championship was wide open until stake night and remained that way as Miss Linda Swanson's Avon Girl and George W. Jayne's Modoc were in a tie after the stake and were required to hack off. The nod and championship went to Avon Girl.

The open jumper championship went to The Possum owned by George W. Jayne with 21 1/2 points; reserve went to Watch Me, owned and expertly ridden by Donald Marzano with 12 points. The classes were all well contested with several jump - offs. Watchman

THE CHRONICLE Chronicle Cover

Ace Marine, Canada's Horse of the Year for 1955, won 7 of his starts as a 3-year-old and all of the Canadian stakes in which he was entered. The son of Ace Admiral, out of the mare Mazarine, included among his victories the Queen's Plate, Prince of Wales Stakes, Seagram Cup Handicap and the Breeders' Stakes.

Larkin Maloney purchased Ace Marine at the yearling sales of the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society and turned the youngster over to the care of John "Yonny" Starr, who also handled the horses racing for the partnership of Maloney and Conn Smythe. The Queen's Plate was an illustrious first for both owner and trainer.

The portrait is the work of the Canadian artist, C. William Kettlewell, whose paintings have included works commissioned by the Ontario Jockey Club and many prominent horsemen.

Ace Marine received 10 of the 15 votes cast in the poll for Canada's Horse of the Year. He stood the 1957 season at the National Stud, Oshawa, Ont., Canada.

NOT A GAMBLER

We like Red Smith's reply to those who are critical of allowing children at race tracks. He cited a precedent for the practice in New York: back in 1887 at Jerome Park a 7-year-old girl was hoisted aboard the winner of a big handicap by the horse's happy owner, Leonard Jerome, president of the track.

"She was not a gambler," writes Mr. Smith, "but she did live to be the mother of Winston Churchill." (Reprinted from "The Thoroughbred Record")

CROSS COUNTRY SHOW JUMPING

On his farm, Great Auclum, at Burghfield, Berkshire, England, where one of the first Combined Training Cross-Country courses in England has been used for one-day events for a number of years, Neil Gardiner, M.F.H. is instituting a new type of competition in Britain.
